Now completing his sixteenth year on the faculty, C. Willard Heckel was Assistant Dean from 1951 to 1959 when he became Associate Dean. He was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1955 where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. After being awarded a master’s degree from Columbia University, he received his law degree from the University of Newark Law School (now Rutgers School of Law) in 1940. Dean Heckel has manifested a steadfast interest in student affairs as well as a unique ability to handle a vast range of student problems and questions while pursuing his regular administrative duties. His students in Constitutional Law will always remember his dynamic presentation of case materials along with such fringe benefits as information concerning slack action, the plimsoll line, Johnson driving his Impala through Maryland, and poor, old Harriet Frothingham.

Assistant Dean Malcolm D. Talbott is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and received his law degree from Western Reserve University. While on leave of absence from his Ohio law firm to do some special work in New York, he consented to fill in at Rutgers in an emergency; he liked it here and decided to stay, which was indeed a stroke of luck for the law school. Dean Talbott is the chairman of the Building and Admissions Committees and has been active with the Scholarship Committee. He is also a member of the American Bar Association’s Joint Committee on Pre-Legal Education and Admission to the Bar. He has also done an excellent job in public relations with our law school, our alumni and the public.

Those of us who have been in his classes remember his teaching us to “analyze, synthesize, relate the rules of law to the relevant issues at hand, state a legal conclusion, and don’t forget the reasoning.” But we also think of him as a counsellor and above all, as our friend who is constantly giving of his time and himself.

PLACEMENT

After the L.L.B.—then what? The School Placement Office officially commenced operation on August 1, 1962, with the appointment of Helen G. Hoffman as Assistant to the Dean in Charge of Placement and Special Projects. Mrs. Hoffman hopes to creatively guide students in planning their law careers and to acquaint them with the varied opportunities available. A personal interview is held with each student prior to the third year to help him individually assess his talents and interests. In addition, aid is given to help students obtain legal positions during the summer between the second and third year. Material is made available to all students on career planning in the law.

The Placement Office maintains an extensive file with respect to varied legal positions of all types, including private law practice, government, industry, and teaching, which is not confined to the State of New Jersey. Attention is also given to special scholastic achievements and to the individual's interests and ability. During the third year, campus interviews by leading firms, government, and industry are held. Assistance is also given to Alumni of the School who return from the Army or who desire a change of association.

In this way, Mrs. Hoffman hopes that, with the aid of the School Placement Office, professional fulfillment may be achieved for Rutgers Law graduates.

THE INSTITUTE FOR CONTINUING LEGAL EDUCATION

The Institute for Continuing Legal Education was established in July, 1961, as a joint venture supported and administered by the New Jersey Institute for Practicing Lawyers, the New Jersey State Bar Association, and the State University. The purpose is to help lawyers keep abreast of developments in the law and become expert in selected branches of the law, and to make available to lawyers educational opportunities for increasing their professional abilities. To accomplish this purpose it offers programs in various centrally located New Jersey communities.

In its first two years of operation the Institute has offered over 35 programs to the practicing bar of New Jersey. These programs have been attended by more than 3,000 lawyers in a dozen different communities in the state. In addition to offering courses the Institute has published more than half a dozen publications prepared especially for the bar of New Jersey by New Jersey lawyers. Booklets have been published in such fields as judgments and liens, real property, tax, estate planning, zoning and planning, workers' compensation, and one volume designed to teach beginning lawyers the mechanics of practice in New Jersey.
