SENIOR MORNING
CLASS
Senior Morning Class

WHEN first we met 'twas a warm September day—we then were strong three hundred seventy and nine. 'Twas meeting, never to be forgotten, is now a delightful memory already two years and a half and more in age. Through periods of stress and turbulence, and psychological upheavals—from L Sachs to Stockton X V and from Commencement XVII back to A Coxe—one doughty band emerges slendoer in number and still unalloyed, richer in experience after three years of treasured friendships and emulate scholarship. That our undergraduate endeavors shall not appear to have been wholly in vain we offer our confidence by way of brief recapitulation.

In our Freshman year we early became students of that most tantalizing "innocent"—practical politics. Student initiative and interest soon manifested themselves and have been sustained ever since. The class election gave us: Robert L. Howard; President; Donald P. Taylor, Vice-President; Alonzo A. Homan, Secretary; Lloyd J. Kelly, Treasurer; and Donald K. Cameron, Student Councillor. The leadership proved distinctly able and enjoyed the enthusiastic support of the class in all matters it promulgated. Several prominent lawyers during the course of the year were secured to address the class on various phases of the law and these were well attended and thoroughly appreciated. Our chief social function was an early Spring Dance given at the Hotel Rivera.

It was in the second semester that The Barrister breathed its first, being intended merely as a class paper. So well received was its first issue that it immediately was proposed and accepted as the School paper. An editorial board was organized with Donald P. Taylor as editor-in-chief who served as such for two years. It has subsequently been enlarged and embellished and is a highly regarded student publication. Its present staff personnel is well represented by students of our own class.

With examinations more or less successfully conquered most of us set out to learn something about adjective law and to earn, simultaneously, a precarious livelihood by "clerking."

The second year saw Benjamin H. H. Greenwood installed as President; Donald K. Cameron as Vice-President; Miss Belle Winnik as Secretary; Edward Currin as Treasurer; and Robert L. Howard as Student Councillor. That same keen interest and zeal in student affairs and in co-ordination with the faculty continued. Several societies and clubs were organized for educational and social purposes. The innumerable humorous incidents that transpired were indulgently received and enjoyed by the professors, endearing them even more than ever to us. Inter-class relationships were delightfully amicable, as evidenced by the huge success of the combined Junior Promenade.

Then along came Senior year in an unbelievable rush that refused to be denied. Oh, time, truly thou hast wings! By reason of the many popular students and honors men the class election was exceedingly interesting. After much lively debate and comment, Leon B. Behr was chosen President; Julius Kramr, Vice-President; Miss Ruth Geltzeiler, Secretary; Joseph M. Roszola, Treasurer; and Aaron N. Premelsker, Student Councillor. The class has been fittingly represented by the election of some of its members to Seal and Scroll, and to King's Bench. Many interesting events were arranged and these include addresses by prominent city officials, inter-class debates, an entertaining mooting trial, and a dinner-dance at the Elizabeth-Centex Hotel.

Even now, with our goal already in sight, we must relegate these things to the land of pleasant memories. However, we doubt not that, although it is the earnest desire of all of us to graduate, to prepare for the Bar, and to enter the active practice of the law, there is not one of us who will not be possessed of a twinge of regret at leaving familiar scenes and parting from newly found friends. To our faculty we bid a sincere farewell and express our deepest appreciation for their forbearance and scholarly consideration. We hope that our participation here has helped to express the high ideals and progressive educational standards of New Jersey Law School—We shall try to honor Her in the future.

Senior Afternoon Class

WHAT a conglomeration of meek, but proud knowledge seekers we were on a certain day in September, 1928, when we gathered together for the first time! Meek, because we didn’t know a cot from a contract—but proud, because we would be lawyers some day. Of course we would! And Professor Harris, in his first lecture on Introductory Law, left no doubt in our minds as to his expectations of us.

After a few short weeks, the class confirmed the quotation, “In union there is strength,” by organizing. The results of said organization were: Earl Bennett, President; Mary Cary, Vice-President; John Reid, Treasurer; Elsie Cooper-Smith, Secretary; and Dr. Samuel Shapiro, Student Representative.

Mid terms were a new thrill (?); but we soon forgot those in the excitement of our first social affair, a formal dance at The Riviera. It was one of those proverbial social successes, that is never a concurrent financial success.

After a lot of unnecessary (?) cramming for finals, they, too, were over; and with signs of relief, many went their way for the summer; while still others returned even in the warmest weather for the “special courses” given only at summer school.

However, here we were again, in late October, signing orange cards instead of blue—certainly, we were upperclassmen already. We still were a nice, large class of two hundred and twenty-one students.

In keeping with the season, came the usual “rushing” by sororities and fraternities—and then again politics. By this time we were better acquainted and knew who was WHO. The final count put in Sydney Sher as President; Jacob Heller, Vice-President; Lloyd Kelly, Treasurer; Edna Corrick, Secretary; and Emil Mintz, Student Representative.

Mid terms were not forgotten so easily this year. Real Property II struck too many out, so Professor Sorg, known as a “good fellow” to all, genially consented to give the unfortunates a comeback. Then the outstanding social event in every school, the Junior Prom, loomed forth—grand and promising—yes, promising. Another social success, but—what a financial deficit. Ask Kelly, he knows!

Another scramble for outside citations and canned notes prior to a few more “coll-takers”. Then the customary “au revoir” before a few months much-needed vacation.

The fall of 1928 found us, in the guise of Dignified Seniors, seeking to quench that thirst for knowledge. Upon him who denies that our thirst was quenched satisfactorily, lies the burden of proof.

In early November a real political battle was launched. Campaigning was the current issue for about two weeks, placing Condict, Will, Sales, etc., safely, but temporarily, in the background. Those emerging from the melee, winners, were Jacob Heller, President; Harold Schneiert, Vice-President; Lloyd Kelly, Treasurer; Sylvia Weinroth, Secretary; and Russ Daniels, Student Representative.

The class should well be proud of its representation on THE LEGACY staff with Arthur E. Schneier, Editor; Oswald H. Roth, Jr., Advertising Manager; Archibald Wacker, Photographic Editor; and DelBois S. Thompson, Circulation Manager.
"On Trial" was the predilection of a few members of the class who were up before Chief Justice Sanford Silverman. Morris Goldsmith and Jacob Heller, eminent counsel for the plaintiffs, challenged the witty rebuke of Emil Mintz and Richard Wiseman, counsel for the defendants. Is it not proof enough of their eminence, that these distinguished scholars were the "Prepula Choice"?

Social events were more numerous this year. First, with Ben Ensherman in the lead, the boys went off and had one of those "closed affairs" more familiarly known as a smoker, a man's definition of "the perfect good time." Who ever said the girls of our class were slackers! Never, for the Girls of 1929 will be remembered as the originators of the "exclusive female get-together." This year it was a theatre party. Thus the curtain falls on a brilliant dinner and dance, the social finale of the Class of 1929; only to rise a few years hence, with members of the afternoon class of '29 taking curtain calls for their renowned successes, gained by integrity and honest effort.

SENIOR EVENING CLASS
Senior Evening Class

Of the crucible of the classroom into which were thrown some three hundred odd raw individuals, the unalloyed and the base, the evil and the good, emerged one solid and indissoluble mass. The Senior Evening Class proud of their unity and zealous of strengthening it still further, looked for a cohesive element. This they found in their first year class elections whereby capable men were elected to office. At the head stood: John V. Burke, President; the other officers were: Anthony T. Augelli, Vice-President; Dorothea Epstein, Secretary; Hyman Barowitz, Treasurer. This was laid an unswerving foundation that has shown its worth throughout these three years.

In Junior Year new elections were held early in the term at which time Richard Uslander was chosen President; Furman W. Reeves, Vice-President; Ruth Levine, Secretary; Irving Meyer, Treasurer; David Ashen, Student Counselor. The class under this newly created leadership planned and carried out that now delightfully memorable function—the Junior Promenade. Together they, with the rest of the school, faced the memory of the heartache caused by the loss of their Dean; together they fought and won the right to enter upon a third year of study.

Then all in a rush came Senior Year on wings faster than those of fabled times. The talk of carrying on the traditions established by their predecessors in office was bestowed upon Julius Kass as President; and an able cabinet composed of David Glickenhauss, Vice-President; Ruth Levine, Secretary; Irving Meyers, Treasurer; William Smith, Student Counselor. A very successful banquet and dance was given late in the year and was well sponsored. In addition we were all entertained by an interesting Moot trial wherein a reputation hung in the balance and inconceivable damages were at stake (and even now feminine hearts still flutter at the recollection of a silver wing of hair). Much credit must go to "Dave" Ashen and Maxwell Marx of counsel for plaintiff as well as to Julius Kass and Julius Peyer for their perspicacious defense of their client.

Although disjointed we came, we must needs separately be allowed to depart; but the indissoluble bond will ever remain and it will serve us true throughout the years to come when we shall return to Alumni and other similar gatherings.

Dorothea Epstein '28.
Eldorado

Gaily bedight
A gallant knight.
In sunshine and in shadow,
Had journeyed long,
Singing a song.
In search of Eldorado.

But he grew old—
This knight so bold,—
And o'er his heart a shadow
Fell as he found
No spot of ground
That looked like Eldorado.

And, as his strength
Failed him at length,
He met a pilgrim shadow.
"Shadow," said he,
"Where can it be—
This land of Eldorado?"

"Over the Mountains
Of the Moon,
Down the Valley of the Shadow,
Ride, boldly ride."
The shade replied.
"If you seek for Eldorado!"
