We will be the foot soldiers who trample the underbrush, the generals who orchestrate the battles, the oracles who read the entrails and the sentinels who guard the Temple of Truth.

We must look beyond the balancing of roles and responsibilities to focus upon the opportunity that awaits us. Ours will be the opportunity to provide fresh perspective to familiar problems and to bring to the practice of law the candor and compassion, the humor and humanity that can enrich our lives and enhance our profession.
