The Student Council of the New Jersey Law School, 1929-30

The governing organization of our Student Body has well earned its enviable reputation through the several years of its existence and has certainly lived up to, if not bettered, this reputation, during the past school year.

The opening meeting of the Student Council was held on the first Wednesday in November, Mr. Charles B. Mason, the president, presiding. At this meeting, Mr. C. J. Tyne was elected vice-president. The other officers were Mr. J. I. Kibbe, secretary, and Mr. P. J. Marzynat, treasurer. In the fall of the year Mr. Kibbe resigned from school, thus necessitating the election of a new secretary. Mr. R. G. McAleney was elected to fill this position.

This year's council had quite an impressive personnel, especially among the faculty and alumni members, which include Dean Harris, Prof. Politic, Prof. Landon, Mr. Marzynat, Mr. Gilday, Mr. Jobs, and Mr. Marksowicz. We are exceptionally fortunate to have a faculty and alumni organization that has taken such active interest in the Student Body.

The council has accomplished far too many things this last year to enumerate here. Among them, though, a few are outstanding, such as the successful promulgation of the Inter-Class debating league. This league, started by the Student Council under the leadership of Mr. Howard, and acting in co-operation with the different classes of the school, during the school year 1928-29, proved successful during that time. The second year, always the crucial one, was looked forward to by counselors and other interested parties, almost one might say, with fear and trembling. But the obstacles seemed to have been overcome and the council might well congratulate itself, that the seed of eloquence planted among the student body, the previous year, has taken root and gained a firm foothold.

In a slightly different field, the social one, the council again proves its ability. Previous to this year it has been the custom to have an annual "Junior Prom." This year after due consideration and deliberation especially concerning the decreasing sizes of the Junior Classes, the council felt it wise to do away with this function and substitute instead, an All-School Dance, wherein every student might feel free to participate. The wisdom of this move was shown by the success of the dance on April 5, 1930.

The other main activities speak for themselves. The Barrier, throughout the year, has contented the student body with bigger and better issues, and may well consider itself a new edition of the first rank.

The Legacy, time honored volume, also speaks for itself, as the one volume which every senior desires to own. The council may well be proud of its two growing proteges.

We are sure that in the future the Student Council of New Jersey Law School will continue to fill its responsible position, and in so doing will bring the utmost in coordination between the nine divisions of the student body, and among the individual members of each division thus rendering New Jersey Law School a brotherhood, united in the pursuit of Legal Learning.

R. G. McAleney, Secretary.
CHARLES B. MASON, the son of the late Dean and Co-Founder of N. J. L. S., Charles Meeks Mason, is President of the Student Council. He is a graduate of the Newark Academy and of Rutgers University with the degree of Bachelor of Letters. While at Rutgers, Charles Mason was active in athletics and student affairs. Among his many positions were: class officer, Chairman of Banquet Committee and member of Scarlet Key Honorary Society. At New Jersey Law School, Mr. Mason, besides being President of the Student Council, has been secretary of that body; Editor-in-chief of The Barrister, and Varsity debater. Last year, Mr. Mason was elected to Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity and Seal and Scroll Honorary Society. While at school, Mr. Mason has found some time to devote to his many outside activities. He is member of Newark Athletic Club, Kane Lodge, No. 55, F. & A. M., and Secretary of the Rutgers Club of Newark. He is intensely interested in the United States Marine Corps Reserve and has been recommended for a commission in that body.

1929-30 Barrister

This article is written with the purpose of giving you a bird’s-eye view of the work done by The Barrister of 1929-30.

The first feature of which I must speak is the hearty cooperation enjoyed. We have had a fully organized staff to handle the publication and this proved most successful. All of the members of the board handled their respective responsibilities in a commendable manner. Details were left to assistants and board members fulfilled assignments admirably so as to put the news forth in a simple and dignified manner to the student.

As was probably noticed, the paper was divided into different sections. The first page was devoted to news, the second to editorials and features, the third page was purely legal in nature and the fourth page was reserved for fraternity, sorority and club news.

Going through the edition as one would read it, we find first “Around the School,” by “P.K.” This column, conducted by Paul Kleinberg, was a most popular feature of the publication. Comments from faculty and students were justly in commendation, and I am sure this addition to the paper was a worthy one. Sidney Kitschen handled the news department. His work was unimpeachable. I am sure you all know “Sid” and that “null said.”

The editorial staff, consisting of Ryan, Ninovicia, Kleinberg, and Contant, all played the game of comment, congratulation and criticism.

Mario Massa, prominent Senior student, handled the legal department. Faculty and students were ready to congratulate us on the worth of the legal department and we all say “Mario knows his law,” and how. For the sake of future Barristers we want oario could lengthen his sojourner here. We put him “hits” the Bar first time. Massa had able assistants in William Ryan, Harry Appel and Alfonso Ninovicia.

Paul Kleinberg was the economic genius who, with his assistant, Aristio Dallavalle, made the finances of the paper belle the industrial situation. The Barrister is very solvent, thanks to these men, and we will soon have our stock on the curb. Dallavalle, that “little dynamo,” handled the circulation of The Barrister, and that is quite a job. The Law School owes much of its advertising to Aristio.

Harold Block and Phil Riskin aided in covering school activities. Many students submitted articles, but then we must thank them generally.

The Barrister was published each second and fourth Thursday of each school month. This schedule was adhered to regularly. The staff extends thanks to the faculty and students for their aid. We particularly extend our gratitude to Mr. Marryott, Assistant Dean, for his untiring efforts.

John M. Contant.
Lex Loci

LEX LOCI, the law of the place, the law of this place, New Jersey Law School, first saw the light of day on October 6, 1927.

In endeavoring to increase the scope of extracurricular activities the idea was conceived of having small hand-books distributed to the law students within which could be placed timely information for the students. While it is a prevalent practice for universities to sponsor such publications, it was practically an innovation for a law school to do so.

In October, 1929, the school was pleasantly surprised by the distribution of the third edition of Lex Loci. This edition is crammed full of interesting data and information concerning the school and its leaders. The cover, modernistic in design, is striking to the eye and draws one's interest immediately. The customary messages by the Dean and President follow along with an instructive article by the editor entitled, "Advice to Freshmen." Many new features are contained in this edition including a number of pictures, an article on each member of the faculty and a thorough summary of all activities at the school. The new revised rules of the school and the bar requirements are also included in the material presented. In conclusion, let us quote Dean Harris in repeating that "this Lex Loci is the best in the history of the school."

The editor-in-chief of this year's Lex Loci was Paul R. Kleinberg and the assistant editor was Aristo Dallavalle.
Debating

DEBATING has maintained its prominence in the last year. Since the inauguration of this activity, the New Jersey Law School team has steadily forged ahead until at the present time it ranks as one of the leading teams in the country. To test its ability, the team debated with formidable opponents as was shown by its schedule which included Harvard, Victoria College and Princeton.

The 1930 team was built around last year’s luminaries, consisting of Messrs. Abner Brodie, Charles B. Mason, Harold F. Becker, Vincent F. Carlsen and John E. Thiele. To these were added able men as Messrs. Abram Kastch, William F. X. Boud, C. Norman Pellegrin, Aaron Z. Schomer and Saul Lehr.

The first debate of the season was held on November 8th with Harvard University. The topic for debate was, “Resolved: That as a part of its disarmament program the United States should promise to co-operate with other nations to protect a disarmed nation from unjust attack.” The Law School representatives were Messrs. Charles M. Mason, John E. Thiele, Vincent F. Carlsen and William F. X. Boud.

The renown of the team had spread as far as New Zealand and earned for New Jersey Law School a debate with Victoria College held on November 25. The question, “Resolved: That the American government is more democratic than the British government,” was ably argued by both teams, who were well supported by the school. Representing the Law School were Messrs. Abram Kastch, John E. Thiele and Aaron Z. Schomer. Nothing more need be said about the debate except that the speakers were fully appreciated for their keen wit and fluent speaking.

“Resolved: That the present political alignment in the United States has outlived its usefulness,” was the subject for debate with Princeton University, on February 14. The Law School was admirably represented by Messrs. Abner Brodie, Harold F. Becker, Saul Lehr and C. Norman Pellegrin. This debate, as well as the former ones, was conducted on the Oxford Plan and was well received by an enthusiastic audience.

Much of the success of the team was due to its coach, Professor Frederick H. Goell. Although his veterans are leaving, the debating team of next year can be safely entrusted into the hands of the recruits in the ranks who promise well for the future.

McClelland Law Club

To the preacher life’s a sermon,
To the joker life’s a jest,
To the miner life is money,
To the farmer life is a test.
To the lawyer life’s a trial,
To the poet life’s a song,
To the doctor life’s a patient,
That needs treatment eight a day.

To the life of the task,
Life is just a long warning,
To the man who loves his work;
Life’s an everlasting effort.
To the man who’s in the thick.
Life’s a story every now.
Life is what we try to make it.
What is life to you?

The McClelland Law Club owes its inception in 1919, to the desire on the part of a few earnest students to perpetuate the memory and principles of a man who possessed a wonderful personality and unusual oratorical ability. Professor McClelland, despite his maturity, was a man of high ideals, dreams and visions. His teaching qualities and character were recognized by all and were admirably reflected in his metronomic style and brilliant career. From a backwoods minister he became one of the leading preachers in the “City of Churches.” He was chosen as a member of the select “Senat” of New York University, and later, when his eyes began to fail him, he entered the University Law School. Despite his great handicap he received his LL.B. degree, “magna cum laude.” Later he became a professor of law at New Jersey Law School, and while there was a source of constant inspiration to all who came in contact with him. His death was mourned by all.

The regular procedure of the organization as carried on in its weekly meetings is designed to develop the forensic ability of its members and to increase their knowledge of parliamentary procedure and important current topics. Among some of the activities may be mentioned moot trials, formal and informal debates, prepared and extemporaneous speeches, orations, lectures and discussions of legal problems.

The outstanding event of the year was the Grand Moot Trial held in the Supreme Court Chamber at Newark during Christmas week. Judge J. Victor D’Aloia presided. The prosecution consisted of Saul Lehr and Philip Scotch, while the defense was capably handled by Herbert Taege and Martin Herman. The members of the club acted as witnesses. The trial was a huge success and all participants acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner.

Several other moot trials were also held at the weekly meetings, which meetings also consisted of practice in parliamentary law, orations, debates.

The “ultra vires” activities of the club were a theatre party which was greatly enjoyed by all who attended.

“To the lawyer life’s a trial.” Yes—one long trial. The organization hopes that the participation in its activities will better equip its members so that they may with a greater degree of certainty obtain a verdict and judgment in their favor: the fulfillment of the dreams and visions of their youth.
Wig and Mace

In the three years of its existence, Wig and Mace has grown to be one of the foremost of the many scholastic societies at New Jersey Law School. It is a society with many principles, employing sound and practical methods to adhere to those principles.

The Constitution of this society states that Wig and Mace shall be "a union of certain students, grouped together to further and advance their legal attainments, and to mutually aid one another in an understanding and application of the principles of law and ethics, as taught in the New Jersey Law School." These objects have been effectuated by means of quizzes, lectures on interesting and pertinent legal topics by able speakers, debates, and extemporaneous speeches amongst the members, practice in analyzing cases and arguing on behalf of fictitious litigants, summations delivered to juries and moot trials.

That these practices have proved fruitful is shown by the remarkably high scholastic record achieved by the group as a whole and several of the members in particular. Norman Pellegrin, William Ryan, Sidney Kirschen, Mario J. Massa, Paul R. Kleinberg, and Samuel Friedman are members who have been particularly successful. Carning Allen, Hyman Bernstein, Herman Cooper, Aristo Dallavalle, Bernard L. Davis, Harold De Pazio, Abe Pinkielstein, Sidney Lipstein, Michael J. Milat, Alfonso Nieves, and John E. Wicoff compose the rest of the membership. Professor Harland Jay Scarborough is an honorary member and advisor of the organization and has been a most inspiring friend.

During the past school year a chapter of Wig and Mace has been established in the pre-law department of New Jersey Law School. The calibre of men of this chapter is fair proof that the present reputation of Wig and Mace will suffer none but rather be more firmly established in time to come. Harry Boestein, Frank J. Cavico, Raymond Flansagan, Joseph Pinkels, Herman Goldberg, Benjamin B. Ginsburg, David R. Hochberg, William S. Kraemer, and Louis Wallis, Jr., compose the membership. Next year these students will take up where the present group leaves off, and Wig and Mace is certain to progress under their able guidance.
Alphian Society

"To be of aid to each other and the student body of New Jersey Law School." This has been the foundation stone of Alphianism.

Three years of constant endeavor, striving, seeking to sense what we call Alphianism has firmly convinced the members of this group that the word "aid" encompasses a wide circle. Scholastic activities in the way of lectures by alumni and members of the student body, group meetings of two or three for concentrated study, research of a vague point of law by a single member so that a resume of his efforts may be presented, all indicate an intense desire by each and every member to be a cog in this structure of aid. Social functions to break the grind of study have formed part of the society's activities. Participation in inter-class debates and striving for position on the varsity debate squad has to a large degree given to many of the group the much needed vocal poise so eagerly desired by embryonic lawyers.

The stone has been laid, and to those who carry on, may Alphianism mean that which it has meant to the class of '30, the founders of the group!

This Sorority has just completed a successful year, in which six of its members were admitted to the Bar. They are Isabel Guptman, Mrs. Rose Krassner, Max Gold, Rose Reiff, Grace R. Lewis and Francis Bauer. All of the foregoing members of the Sorority are actively engaged in the practice of the law. The Sorority has as members several other attorneys who have been practicing law. They are Mrs. Rebecca Siegel-Barth, Mrs. Sarah G. Vogel-Needell and Mrs. Margaret R. Rosenberg-Storch.

The Sorority gives a prize of $25.00 to that girl student who receives the highest average for the three school years. Last year’s winner of the prize was Miss Anne Goldberg.

Kappa Beta Pi

THE Kappa Beta Pi Sorority of New Jersey Law School was organized in 1926 and is now actively connected with Kappa Beta Pi, being associated with Nu Chapter of George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

Hopes were realized when on October 26, 1939, five of Beta Iota’s active members were initiated into Nu Chapter with very impressive ceremonies. The entire week-end was spent in good fellowship as guests of Nu Chapter in the national capital.

Luncheon meetings are held twice monthly and alumni members are kept in touch with those enrolled in the school.

Through the association with Nu Chapter invitations have been extended to Beta Iota to attend meetings of the Alumni Chapter in New York City.

Places are developing for the initiation of new members. The National Sorority includes in its membership many prominent women lawyers of this country as well as Europe. A newly acquired member is Dr. Frieda Bohl, the first woman Juvenile Judge of Berlin, Germany. Miss Reine Van Der Heide, of Holland, was cordially received at the national convention in June. With such leaders as Justice Florence Allen of the Supreme Court of Ohio, Judge Genevieve R. Clinin, Federal Judge of the Customs Court of New York, and the founder, Mrs. Alice Craig Edgerton, we never lack inspiration. They exemplify the highest standards and ideals of Kappa Beta Pi. Our aim is to make this Sorority a credit to the school and a permanent part of our Alma Mater.

Brotherhood

The Great and crowning of all good.
Life's final star, is Brotherhood;
For it will bring again to earth
Her long-lost Poesy and Mirth;
Will send new light on every face,
A kindly power upon the race.
And till it comes, we men are slaves,
And travel downward to the dust of graves.

Come, clear the way, then, clear the way:
Blind creeds and kings have had their day.
Break the dead branches from the path:
Our hope is in the aftermath—
Our hope is in heroic men,
Star-led to build the world again.
To this event the ages ran:
Make way for Brotherhood—make way for Man!

Edwin Markham

Iota Alpha Pi is the oldest Sorority in New Jersey Law School. Epsilon Chapter was formed in June, 1922. It offers an Equity Prize every year to that member of the Junior Class receiving the highest average in Equity. The National Council of Iota Alpha Pi has created a scholarship fund to help needy and deserving students.

The Council has been in existence for twenty-eight years and has chapters at various colleges throughout the United States and Canada.
